Around and About

A committee to draft Robert H. Lounsbey, 44, general counsel of Kennecott Copper Corp. and former assistant to the director of Central Intelligence Agency, for the Democratic candidate for governor has been formed. Heading the group is Stuart N. Sosler, a prominent New York Stockbroker. . . . Assemblyman John M. Burns, New York Republican, has introduced legislation which would eliminate the two per cent statewide sales tax on textbooks used by students.
